CARL P. KROBOTH

LEXINGTON, KENTUCKY

MARCH 1934

On the following pages I am offering selected varieties of seasonable Annual and Perennial Flower Seeds. To those that have favored me with some of their business, after receiving my first price list, I wish to express my sincere appreciation for the confidence they have showed in me. To others, whom I have not had the pleasure of doing business with, I wish to extend the invitation of a trial order. My seed is secured from the best Seed Growers and can be depended on being true to name. Freshness of any seed I send out is guaranteed, and you will find my "Trade Packets" very liberal.

All orders shipped the day received—I pay the postage.

ASTERS

Due to the rapidly increasing difficulty of growing Asters in our wilt infested soils, it is strongly advisable to use seed bred to withstand the attacks of the wilt. All seed offered is Boggers, originators seed.
